Host your group retreat at Silver Lake Conference Center and find perspective, discover your inspiration, build community, and experience a greater connection to the world around you.
Silver Lake is a camp and retreat facility located on more than sixty acres of wooded land along a lake in northwestern Connecticut. Silver Lake has offered a respite in the woods and immersion in nature, away from the pressures of everyday life, for youth and adults alike since its founding as a United Church of Christ summer camp in 1957.

Nestled among pines, cedars, and maples, five year-round retreat buildings and two seasonal cabin villages, all of varying sizes, make it possible to welcome groups as small as ten and as large as one hundred fifty. Each of our retreat facilities is designed to promote community building, with a large central meeting space surrounded by bedrooms.

In addition to comfortable lodging, Silver Lake offers indoor and outdoor meeting spaces, full food services, recreation (including high and low ropes challenge courses), and more.

We are equipped to host a wide variety of retreats including church groups of all denominations and faiths, seekers, nonprofit groups, school groups, hobbyists and crafters, day meetings, and people seeking teambuilding, community building, a greater connection to nature, and spiritual renewal.

Each retreat is a unique expression of a community’s goals, personality, and connection. Retreat packages are customizable with mid-week, weekend, and week-long retreats available, allowing you to plan the best experience for your group.

Retreats typically begin with groups arriving, unpacking, and settling in before being welcomed by our host and introduced to Silver Lake. Breakfast, lunch, dinner, and Sunday brunch are served family-style in the Cedars dining room, encouraging conversation and fellowship. Our chef designs a menu around the needs of each group. Morning and afternoon activities might include facilitated field games, a ropes course experience, unstructured outdoor play, rambling through the woods, quiet reflection lakeside or in one of our outdoor chapels, or even an off-site outing.

An evening campfire, with or without s’mores, is a traditional, beloved way to close out the day. Firepits accommodate groups of all sizes.

Whatever your goals for your time away, our skilled staff can help you plan the perfect retreat.

At Silver Lake, we believe an important part of the retreat experience is spending time in nature engaging in unstructured activities or facilitated programs. Outdoor basketball and volleyball courts are available in season. Try your hand at disc golf, with a nine-hole course that winds its way through the upper portion of camp. Several open fields lend themselves to a variety of games, including kickball, swimming and boating are available seasonally. Bring your sleds and snow sculpting plans when the forecast calls for snow.

Challenges Courses

Whether you’re looking for teambuilding activities on our low ropes course or boundary-pushing challenges on our high ropes course, consider adding a ropes package to your retreat. Following the philosophy of “challenge by choice,” our skilled facilitators will create a program to help your group achieve its goals. The low ropes course encourages teamwork and problem-solving. The high ropes course encourages participants to stretch out of their comfort zone in a safe environment, supported and encouraged by their community. Ropes programming is adaptable to all ages and a range of abilities.

Participants report coming away from their experience with a greater sense of courage, self-knowledge, teamwork, and interdependence.
